Sonwil Reaffirms Commitment to its Customers and Western New York with Announcement of New Corporate Headquarters Facility

Company's continued growth and local/national expansion prompts move to 40,000 square foot office building in Town of West Seneca

Consolidated space will increase administrative and operational efficiencies and effectiveness in anticipation of future workforce additions

BUFFALO, NY – Today, The Sonwil Family of Companies—a leading North American logistics solutions provider—announced plans to expand its corporate headquarters into a 40,000 sq. ft. facility in West Seneca, New York. This move will allow the company to consolidate its growing portfolio of companies onto a single campus across five acres at 2732 Transit Road.

The new facility will allow Sonwil's key business units — Sonwil Distribution Center, Sonwil Logistics, Innovative Transportation Services (ITS), Technology Services Group (TSG) and Sonwil Real Estate—to transition to the same address, allowing for enhanced operational efficiency and effectiveness, as well as providing space for future workforce additions across all sectors.

"We're very excited to announce the expansion of our corporate headquarters right here in Western New York," said Peter G. Wilson, President and CEO of Sonwil Distribution Center. "As we continue to grow both within the region and beyond, our company remains committed to the same values, customer focus, and performance standards that have successfully guided us for more than 70 years."

Since 2016, Sonwil has seen its full-time workforce increase by nearly 25%, with more than 500 employees located in Western New York and across operations in Nevada, New York, New Jersey, Georgia, and Texas. In addition, the company employs nearly 200 flex-time production workers in its Buffalo Niagara facilities. The announcement of the new corporate headquarters location is expected to help Sonwil improve business unit collaboration, support and communication for its local and national operations from a central locale.

“We have deep Buffalo roots and are proud to be making a very real impact on the local economy,” continued Wilson. “At the same time, we are excited to unite our operations under one roof in order better service our clients and further fuel the company’s overall growth trajectory.”

The Sonwil Real Estate group will manage the office project as it plans to retrofit the new facility to meet operational needs and specifications, and will begin transitioning the workforce to the site later this summer.
