Sonwil Distribution Center Announces New Cross Border Transportation Services

ITS offers sustainable, low-cost transport of goods between Canada and U.S.

BUFFALO, NY – Today Sonwil Distribution Center, Inc. – a leading North American logistics solutions provider —announced that its affiliate, Innovative Transportation Services (ITS), has officially launched cross border transportation services.

"Buffalo is located on Canada's doorstep – minutes from Southern Ontario and 65 miles to the Greater Toronto Area," said Peter Wilson, president and CEO of Sonwil Distribution Center. "We hope to expand our clients cross border trade by supporting the movement of freight for our current and prospective clients between the U.S. and Canada, at a lower cost and in an eco-friendly way."

The divisible load permitted equipment allows heavier loads thus reducing the number of trips and the cost per commodity. The new CNG-powered fleet produces significantly reduced levels of carbon monoxide, hydrocarbon and nitrogen oxide. The use of clean energy and greater capacity results in reduced transportation costs while supporting corporate sustainability goals.

"For more than 70 years, Sonwil has offered effective logistics solutions for our clients. We are proud to now offer additional cross border transportation services so products can be delivered wherever, whenever, and however needed – in Canada or the United States – and with lower costs and impact on the environment," said Wilson.

ITS is a niche trucking company servicing Western New York and Southern Ontario with innovative ideas and equipment. ITS is a subsidiary of Transportation and Consolidation Services, Inc., an affiliate of Sonwil Distribution Center. For 30 years, Transportation and Consolidation Services has advised clients on transportation alternatives and outsourcing (Truckload, LTL, Consolidation, Intermodal and Parcel Shipment) to optimize assets and improve business performance.
